

Billing for services that are psychological in nature
but rendered by a non-registrant

This Practice Advisory is to be considered in light of the unique qualifications of registered psychologists in the provision of psychological services to the public.

Only a Registered Psychologist is responsible and held accountable for psychological services as defined by the Psychologist's Regulation of the Health Professions Act.

A Psychologist providing supervision for a non-psychologist must clarify in writing the terms of the services to be provided with the party responsible for payment prior to their services being initiated.

Issued by the Inquiry Committee on April 26, 2001.

Practice Advisories are statements issued by the College of Psychologists with regards to practice issues arising out of investigation of complaints or in response to practice issues raised by registrants. Practice Advisories are intended to guide registrants in their practice of psychology. Once published to the profession, registrants are presumed to have knowledge of Practice Advisories and are required to be guided by them in their practice of psychology. Practice Advisories may be referred to and relied upon the Inquiry Committee or the Discipline Committee to assess the conduct of a registrant.
